

ADSE Full Chapter Application Instructions

Thank you for your interest in forming a local ADSE chapter. Joining ADSE as a local chapter is a great way to join our efforts in creating an inclusive STEM community. We aim to do this by increasing the participation of underrepresented groups in academia, industry, and government. We look forward to reviewing your application.

Benefits of Joining ADSE:

- Leadership opportunities and experience in planning and coordinating events.
- National-level programming (i.e., biannual Young Researcher Conferences), including travel assistance.
- National network of like-minded individuals dedicated to a vision of inclusion in STEM.

Prerequisites for Instatement as an Official Chapter:

- All official members must be graduate students, postdocs, or faculty.
- A local chapter board consisting of a minimum of five graduate students.
- At least one faculty advisor who will state intent to advocate on behalf of the new ADSE chapter.

Application Components:

1. Complete chapter application.
2. Letter of intent from faculty advisor.
3. Full description of the responsibilities of each elected leader

Please send complete application materials to Antonio Tinoco Valencia (tinoco@allianceinscience.org).
